THE COUPLE Derek, a 2006 college grad, returned to his alma mater, the University of Michigan, to interview intern candidates for the financial firm where he worked in New York City. Jennifer was an interviewee, and the two clicked. Derek later popped a different kind of question during a Sunday morning hike at the stunning Maroon Bells peaks while in Aspen for the Food & Wine Classic.

THE DETAILS Kehoe Designs brought the couple's farm-to-table vision to life with rustic tables, all-white flowers and loads of candles and lanterns. As a tribute to their families, the bride borrowed her mother's wedding band for the ceremony, and the groom wore his late grandfather's ring.

THE PARTY The romantic vibe of the ceremony and dinner soon gave way to a late-night bash complete with custom sunglass favors, a Magnolia Bakery banana-cream pie as the groom's cake, and the University of Michigan's "Hail to the Victors" playing in the middle of the hour. Afterwards, calm prevailed when the couple spent two weeks, including the bride's birthday, in France, Tuscany and the Amalfi Coast. —Amalie Drury Clockwise from top: Jennifer stunned in a classic strapless Anna Maier lace gown; Four Seasons Hotel Chicago made an elegant four-tier cake in the bride's favorite flavors, red velvet and chocolate; Kehoe Designs transformed the Four Seasons Hotel Chicago into a glowing, flowery oasis.

What We Learned "Be the first ones on the dance floor and the last to leave. We are definitely the overplanning, overanalyzing [types], but on the night of our wedding, we left all of the details to the vendors and just had fun," says Jennifer.

From above: The bride showed off her bouquet of ivory and white orchids, hydrangeas, calla lilies and roses accented by dusty greenery; Kehoe Designs created centerpieces of raised grapewood with succulents and hanging tea lights.
